

IT IS SAFE from BURGLARS WHEN IT IS IN THE BANK

Bank Your Money and Rest Easy

Burglars can't get it, and schemers and fair weather friends won't be so apt to make your money their money.

MAKE OUR BANK YOUR BANK

$1.00

starts an interest account.

4 Percent interest on savings accounts, interest compounded every 6 months.

Percent interest on time deposits.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES, $2.50 A YEAR

NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE, El Paso, Texas

BOYS CONFESS TO SEVERAL THEFTS

Taking a Pocketbook From Hadley House Causes Downfall.

In the arrest of Guy Desmond, aged 16; Lester Burnett, aged 11, and Charlie Hoke, aged 12, the police believe they have the parties who have participated in the many petty burglaries that have been reported in the past month.

Desmond and Burnett were arrested about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by patrolman Williams, after a steep chase that ended on top of the Wells Fargo building. They had $2.50 in cash, which they admitted having just taken from the Hadley house on North Oregon street. After the detectives had quizzed them for five or ten minutes, they confessed to having committed numerous other offenses, implicating Charlie Hoke who was later arrested by detective Harold.

Desmond confessed to having, with others, burglarized the International book store, Fraser Bros' plumbing shop, the Shelton-Payne Arms Co., W. G. Wain Co., City Plumbing Co., and the El Paso Dairy Co. In several of these places they were scared away and nothing was secured. They said they took $5 and two fountain pens from the book store, $12 in cash from the City Plumbing company, two knives from the Shelton-Payne company. In most cases entrance was gained by breaking and forcing windows.

The robbery in the Hadley house took place about 2 o'clock Tuesday, according to Desmond. He said Burnett came and asked him to rob the house. He refused until he was told to go for a drink of water. While he was drinking, Burnett, he says, grabbed a purse out of a room while the landlady's back was turned. The detection came about when a crowd of neighbors surrounded the pair on the plaza and demanded some of the money. Patrolman Smith was attracted and Desmond and Burnett broke and ran, followed by the officer and a score of neighbors. All three had been in trouble with the police before. Desmond is held on a charge of theft under $50, Burnett as a suspicious character and Hoke on a charge of burglary. The latter's father called at the police station Wednesday morning and told the detectives that the boy was a bad one and that he could do nothing with him. Their cases will be transferred to the county's jurisdiction.

Why go to the coast to enjoy yourself when you can stay at home and get those fine steaks from corn fed beef at the Melvin Meat Co.?

Linden Hotel, everything new and modern, opens July 1.

TOM SHARKEY GOES OUT TO SEE THE BIG FIGHT
Tom Sharkey, the heavyweight pugilist, who fought Jim Jeffries for the championship and lost, was in El Paso for a short time Tuesday. Sailor Tom was on his way to Reno to see the championship fight between the man who broke all the slats in his body when they fought 25 rounds for the belt, and the negro.

While here, Sharkey hunted up Billy Smith, an old friend in the fighting days, and had a chat with him about the days when the two were in their prime and were in the active fighting game.

Sharkey is now located in New York, where he runs a third parlor. He was accompanied by Sam Austin and Lew Alston, both sporting writers on Chicago and New York papers.

COLES WILL MOTOR OVER CALIFORNIA; THEN TO ALASKA.
Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Coles will leave next week for California for an auto trip through the state. Their big Packard car will be shipped to Los Angeles and will be used for the tour of the entire state, after which they will go to Alaska for the remainder of the summer. J. P. Coles will also go to California after the first of July to join his family at Long Beach.

JEFFRIES BOXES FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF GOVERNOR OF NEVADA; LOSES GROUND

Jack Johnson Also Gives Exhibition for the Governor. Referee Matter Is Still Unsettled.

Reno, Nev., June 29.—Yielding to entreaties of his counselors and friends, Jim Jeffries called off his boycott on boxing today and has agreed to get into action this afternoon for the special edification of governor Dickinson, who has delayed his return to the state capital to watch the big fellow work out.

Jim Corbett and his unruly charge will box between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon, although just how many rounds nobody knows.

The governor greatly enjoyed watching Johnson work yesterday. The work of the negro was a revelation, said the governor this morning. "I never knew a man Johnson's size could be so wonderfully clever in defending himself. When I complimented him on his ability as a boxer he said: 'Mr. Governor, I would like to box with you some time to show you how easy it is.'"

"I promptly assured him that if we were ever matched by some designing person, that match would be officially declared off at once."

Apparently Jeffries' grouch had disappeared this morning. He frisked around with his dogs, and finally started on a six mile walk. Jeffries' work tomorrow probably will be the last of a long training siege. Then the "drying out" process will be given.

Johnson did not box this morning, but put in nine miles on the road at a pace which tested the endurance of his trainers to the utmost.

Governor Visits Johnson.
At Johnson's camp Tuesday, governor Dickinson, late in the afternoon, was fortunate enough to catch the negro champion just starting on the best workout he has indulged in since coming to Reno. It is quite probable that the governor's coming here something to do with the character of the spectacle furnished, but that as it may, Johnson did 12 rounds of fast boxing while the state officials looked on.

Four rounds with Al Kaufman opened the program and Johnson cleverly eluded the rushes of his husky opponent, snapping back telling head and body blows. They fooled around the ring parades, and it ended the bout for Cotton. He staggered and would have toppled to the floor had the seconds not caught him.

Johnson's Brutal Practice.
"Kid" Cotton, the dusky sparring partner, came up next. Johnson went after him with playful viciousness. He drove the big black around the ring, hammering away with great good will at any point Cotton failed to protect. In the fourth round, the champion put on steam and went after Cotton as if determined to take his scalp and put him down for the count. Cotton clinched to save himself from punishment. Jack tore the power out of one of his surprising displays of strength. Twice he drove his left at Cotton's head with terrific speed and force. It was a "double left hook" in ring parlance, and it ended the bout for Cotton. He staggered and would have toppled to the floor had the seconds not caught him.

Johnson was not ready to quit and called Monahan, whom he kept dancing around for two rounds. Dave Mills was subjected to the champion's fire for two more rounds. Then Johnson started back to the hotel. Governor Dickinson and Capt. Cox joined him, and the three went up to Johnson's room, where they chatted for some time.

Jeff on a Strike.
Out at Moana Springs, Jeffries went on a strike for the day. He absolutely refused to do work beyond a seven mile road jaunt in the morning. Even the visit of the governor failed to stir him to action. Jim Corbett labored with him like a camp meeting revivalist with a backslider. Corbett talked almost with tears in his eyes.

"He's just got to box," wailed Corbett afterwards. "He ought to be going after it hard right along. I talked to him till I was black in the face."

But it did no good. Jeffries calmly ignored every protest and went his own way. If anything he appeared elated by the fact that his refusal to box had disappointed 400 visitors who rose early and rushed out to the camp, expecting to catch him at an early morning workout.

Batt Sees Jeff.

To Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion, Jeffries was most cordial when he later visited the springs in the afternoon. Jeffries looked upon "Bat" as a "great little fighter," to use his own words, and the pair strolled around the grounds for a long time, chatting about many things.

Nelson declared that he was amazed by Jeffries' fine condition. "His picture misled me," said the Battler. "They do not do him justice. Why, he looks like a champion."

Asked if he proposed to place any bets on the fight, Bat said he thought not.

A Second Referee.

The matter of the second referee is still up in the air. Rickard is anxious by his own statement that Jack Gleason should serve, but the fighter's camps had not been heard from on this and no definite announcement was forthcoming. Tex is determined that there shall be a second man as an insurance to the crowd that the fight will not be marred in the improbable event of accident to himself.

That the men who are close to the fighters are anticipating a hard battle was indicated today in a message from Jim Corbett to Roger Bresnahan. "Look for hard fight," Jeffries should say," was the way Corbett expressed himself. Bresnahan is the manager of the St. Louis Nationals and a close follower of sports.

The Betting.

Local betting on the fight livened up greatly today. In one of the prominent gambling houses the following wagers were posted:

Fifteen hundred dollars even that Johnson stays 10 rounds.

Three hundred dollars to $500 Johnson to win.

One thousand dollars to $700 Jeffries to win.

All of the offers were promptly covered, according to the proprietor.

Bob Vernon, of New York, an old friend of Jeffries, is credited with the largest local wager yet placed on the fight. It was stated at Jeffries' camp that Vernon put up $2000 to $1800 during the day, Jeffries to win. A record of such a wager is reported by a local poolroom.

Governor Satisfied.

On his return from the training camps, governor Dickinson stated that he would leave for Carson City. He said that he was perfectly satisfied from Johnson's workout and a talk with Jeffries that everything was as advertised, and the fight would not be contrary to any state law. Tex Rickard, black tore the power out of one of his surprising displays of strength. Twice he drove his left at Cotton's head with terrific speed and force. It was a "double left hook" in ring parlance, and it ended the bout for Cotton. He staggered and would have toppled to the floor had the seconds not caught him.

Johnson was not ready to quit and called Monahan, whom he kept dancing around for two rounds. Dave Mills was subjected to the champion's fire for two more rounds. Then Johnson started back to the hotel. Governor Dickinson and Capt. Cox joined him, and the three went up to Johnson's room, where they chatted for some time.

Jeff on a Strike.

Out at Moana Springs, Jeffries went on a strike for the day. He absolutely refused to do work beyond a seven mile road jaunt in the morning. Even the visit of the governor failed to stir him to action. Jim Corbett labored with him like a camp meeting revivalist with a backslider. Corbett talked almost with tears in his eyes.

"He's just got to box," wailed Corbett afterwards. "He ought to be going after it hard right along. I talked to him till I was black in the face."

But it did no good. Jeffries calmly ignored every protest and went his own way. If anything he appeared elated by the fact that his refusal to box had disappointed 400 visitors who rose early and rushed out to the camp, expecting to catch him at an early morning workout.

Batt Sees Jeff.

To Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion, Jeffries was most cordial when he later visited the springs in the afternoon. Jeffries looked upon "Bat" as a "great little fighter," to use his own words, and the pair strolled around the grounds for a long time, chatting about many things.

Nelson declared that he was amazed by Jeffries' fine condition. "His picture misled me," said the Battler. "They do not do him justice. Why, he looks like a champion."

Asked if he proposed to place any bets on the fight, Bat said he thought not.

A Second Referee.

The matter of the second referee is still up in the air. Rickard is anxious by his own statement that Jack Gleason should serve, but the fighter's camps had not been heard from on this and no definite announcement was forthcoming. Tex is determined that there shall be a second man as an insurance to the crowd that the fight will not be marred in the improbable event of accident to himself.

That the men who are close to the fighters are anticipating a hard battle was indicated today in a message from Jim Corbett to Roger Bresnahan. "Look for hard fight," Jeffries should say," was the way Corbett expressed himself. Bresnahan is the manager of the St. Louis Nationals and a close follower of sports.

The Betting.

Local betting on the fight livened up greatly today. In one of the prominent gambling houses the following wagers were posted:

Fifteen hundred dollars even that Johnson stays 10 rounds.

Three hundred dollars to $500 Johnson to win.

One thousand dollars to $700 Jeffries to win.

All of the offers were promptly covered, according to the proprietor.

Bob Vernon, of New York, an old friend of Jeffries, is credited with the largest local wager yet placed on the fight. It was stated at Jeffries' camp that Vernon put up $2000 to $1800 during the day, Jeffries to win. A record of such a wager is reported by a local poolroom.

Governor Satisfied.

On his return from the training camps, governor Dickinson stated that he would leave for Carson City. He said that he was perfectly satisfied from Johnson's workout and a talk with Jeffries that everything was as advertised, and the fight would not be contrary to any state law. Tex Rickard, black tore the power out of one of his surprising displays of strength. Twice he drove his left at Cotton's head with terrific speed and force. It was a "double left hook" in ring parlance, and it ended the bout for Cotton. He staggered and would have toppled to the floor had the seconds not caught him.

Johnson was not ready to quit and called Monahan, whom he kept dancing around for two rounds. Dave Mills was subjected to the champion's fire for two more rounds. Then Johnson started back to the hotel. Governor Dickinson and Capt. Cox joined him, and the three went up to Johnson's room, where they chatted for some time.

Jeff on a Strike.

Out at Moana Springs, Jeffries went on a strike for the day. He absolutely refused to do work beyond a seven mile road jaunt in the morning. Even the visit of the governor failed to stir him to action. Jim Corbett labored with him like a camp meeting revivalist with a backslider. Corbett talked almost with tears in his eyes.

"He's just got to box," wailed Corbett afterwards. "He ought to be going after it hard right along. I talked to him till I was black in the face."

But it did no good. Jeffries calmly ignored every protest and went his own way. If anything he appeared elated by the fact that his refusal to box had disappointed 400 visitors who rose early and rushed out to the camp, expecting to catch him at an early morning workout.

Batt Sees Jeff.

To Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion, Jeffries was most cordial when he later visited the springs in the afternoon. Jeffries looked upon "Bat" as a "great little fighter," to use his own words, and the pair strolled around the grounds for a long time, chatting about many things.

Nelson declared that he was amazed by Jeffries' fine condition. "His picture misled me," said the Battler. "They do not do him justice. Why, he looks like a champion."

Asked if he proposed to place any bets on the fight, Bat said he thought not.

A Second Referee.

The matter of the second referee is still up in the air. Rickard is anxious by his own statement that Jack Gleason should serve, but the fighter's camps had not been heard from on this and no definite announcement was forthcoming. Tex is determined that there shall be a second man as an insurance to the crowd that the fight will not be marred in the improbable event of accident to himself.

That the men who are close to the fighters are anticipating a hard battle was indicated today in a message from Jim Corbett to Roger Bresnahan. "Look for hard fight," Jeffries should say," was the way Corbett expressed himself. Bresnahan is the manager of the St. Louis Nationals and a close follower of sports.

The Betting.

Local betting on the fight livened up greatly today. In one of the prominent gambling houses the following wagers were posted:

New Togs For the Fourth?

Hart Schaffner & Marx and Kuppenheimer Suits Reduced from 25% to 35%

LET us fit you out with a complete new outfit for your Fourth of July celebration—a suit, a hat, shirts, neckwear. You'll never find a time when you can buy at smaller cost, for we are offering the "best clothes on earth"—H. S. & M., and Kuppenheimer—at prices that will save you a fourth to a third.

LOT A—Suits worth $31.50 to $40.00 $24.85

LOT B—Suits worth $23.50 to $30.00 $18.95

LOT C—Suits worth $17.00 to $22.50 $14.65

LOT D—Suits worth $12.50 to $16.50 $9.75

Genuine Panama Hats Reduced One-Fourth

Our entire line of genuine Panama Hats in the newest of the season's large and small shapes, is offered for the week at a reduction of 25%. These are styles and qualities regularly sold for $5.00, $6.50, $8.50 and $10.00.

Manhattan

Shirts

The Popular
DRY GOODS CO. INC.

Hawes von Gal

$3.00 Hats

THREE BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED

Inspector Haggart Reports May Was Good Month. Daily Record.

"Building activities seem to be letting up," said building inspector S. R. Haggart Tuesday. "The let up began along the middle of June and has gradually decreased since that time. Last month was the one for the business."

Not a permit was issued Monday, even for minor repairs. Tuesday there were three, one for the construction of a brick store, to cost $1000. The permits issued follow:

To W. E. Fleischer, to rebuild shed and stable at Blaine and Estrella streets, brick to be used; estimated cost $200.

To Mrs. W. W. Fink, to build brick and concrete store, 50x7x15 feet, Myrtle avenue and Auge street; estimated cost $1000.

To E. L. Holmesley, to build screened porch on dwelling, 2001 Rivera street, 10x16 feet; estimated cost $70.

Deaths Filed.
Taylor county, Texas—J. W. Betts to L. W. Lacy, section 28, block 59, township 7, T. & P. R. Co. lands, containing 712 acres, public school lands of the state of Texas; consideration $7000. Dated June 25, 1910.

Licensed to Wed.
F. W. Gill and N. H. Kenan, Americans. Charles W. Goble and Lucia B. Benton, Americans.

George T. McGowan and M. Sturm, Americans.

CONCRETE SIDEWALK FOR COUNTRY CLUB

Will Be Laid From Street Car Line—Sufficient Funds Raised.

A sidewalk is to be built from the street car line to the entrance to the country club. No longer will it be necessary to wade through dust when it is dry and mud when it rains to go from the car line to the club building.

J. B. Kilpatrick and Merton Lindsay circulated subscription papers and secured the guarantee of the necessary amount Wednesday morning. The walk will be laid as soon as a sufficient number of workmen can be hired to do the job. The names of the subscribers to the fund are to appear in the walk, Kilpatrick says, as a roll of honor in concrete.

EDISON CONSIDERS TRIP BY AUTO TO NEW YORK TOWN.

W. R. Edison is arranging to leave Friday for New York on a business trip. He cannot decide whether to go overland in his touring car, or on the limited, and will wait until Friday arrives to decide.

NEW OWNER OF THE MUSKOGEE BALL TEAM

Tulsa, Okla., June 29.—At a meeting of the Western association directors, W. L. Tull was awarded the Muskogee team, according to an announcement made here this morning. Arrangements were made to continue the season to the end without interruption.

Linden Hotel, 615 N. Oregon street, opens July 1.